

KIDS celebrate themselves at Leominster Kids Day event

Lois Nfor, 7, of Leominster, dives into her first taste of cotton candy.

Nicholas Chung, 2, and his sister, Isabella Chung, 9, of Leominster, make room for themselves in the busy bounce-slide at Saturday's Kids Day event in Leominster.

PHOTOS BY CHARLES STERNAIMOLO

Luis Serrano, 5, of Winchendon, also known as "Batman," shows off his new hair cut that goes just perfect with his new facepaint.

Tasha Sky Nadeau, 1, and her father, Shane Nadeau, of Leominster, stop for some free lollipops from a friendly lion.

Mariah Paskell, 5, decides she likes the plush puppy dog up for bid at one of the event's many tables.

Justin Harrington, of Sterling, and Sandie Chacon, of Leominster, stand near the line for the ferris wheel. Harrington, who's company, GM Tree Service of Sterling, was one of the ride's sponsors, and Chacon, who worked as a coordinator for the event, were amazed at the popularity of the ferris wheel. According to ride operator Mark Fanelli, at least 1,300 people rode the wheel in just a few hours.

From left, Connie Schumaches, of Leominster, and her grandkids, Tommy Young, 6, and Domanic Young, 5, play a game of ring toss.